

Violence, terror and war, polarization both on the large and small scale are in our minds right now – we could not ignore these experiences while designing the Easter candle.

Jesus walked right into this violence. Death through nails to the cross was the imaginably cruellest way – absolutely terrifying.

„Just as there were many who were appalled at him -- his appearance was so disfigured beyond that of any human being and his form marred beyond human likeness.“ (Isaiah 52:14)

People have further perfected torture and killing tools – today there are high-performance shotguns, landmines, chemical weapons, steering rockets ...

Jesus wanted to break through these cruel mechanisms and to bring healing. The crucifix was meant to be failure. The crucifix is healing.

“He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds.“ (psalm 147:3)

At Easter, the Church celebrates the victory of light over darkness: the light of the resurrection surpasses death and violence.

Material: used Easter candle from 2015 ("compass"), lead projector of an air pistol, ignited bouncers in pre-drilled holes and inserted gun cartridge sleeves, bandage, Hansaplast, red acrylic paint in military stencils

Design: Benedikt Lechner und Ulrich Schäfert

Violence, terror and war, polarization both on the large and small scale are in our minds right now – we could not ignore these experiences while designing the Easter candle.

Jesus walked right into this violence. Death through nails to the cross was the imaginably cruellest way – absolutely terrifying.

„Just as there were many who were appalled at him -- his appearance was so disfigured beyond that of any human being and his form marred beyond human likeness.“ (Isaiah 52:14)

People have further perfected torture and killing tools – today there are high-performance shotguns, landmines, chemical weapons, steering rockets ...

Jesus wanted to break through these cruel mechanisms and to bring healing. The crucifix was meant to be failure. The crucifix is healing.

“He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds.“ (psalm 147:3)

At Easter, the Church celebrates the victory of light over darkness: the light of the resurrection surpasses death and violence.

Material: used Easter candle from 2015 ("compass"), lead projector of an air pistol, ignited bouncers in pre-drilled holes and inserted gun cartridge sleeves, bandage, Hansaplast, red acrylic paint in military stencils

Design: Benedikt Lechner und Ulrich Schäfert